

Pass the Positivity for your chance to win 92 books

What makes you happy? Draw or write your answer to this question on an A4 piece of paper - it can be anything at all! Students and teachers can take part in school and families at home.

Add your first name and school on the back and post entries to
PO Box 800, Folkestone, CT20 9LY
(along with the entry form at the end of this document)

You can also upload individual entries and see examples at www.propahappy.com

Ant & Dec might even read your message out on our live-stream event on Thursday May 26th!

Pass the Positivity is a project supporting the message of positivity that is the focus of Ant & Dec's debut book, PROPA HAPPY. By entering your own message or drawing of positivity, you'll be in with a chance to win 92 (Ant & Dec's combined age!) books for your school – the competition runs every week until May 20th. You can enter a different message each week, so lots of chances to win!

Ant & Dec will be presented with all your messages of positivity at a super exciting event on May 26th that will be live-streamed nationwide – they might even choose yours to read out. Ant & Dec are donating all of their income from sales of this title to the NSPCC, so by joining in, you will not only be doing something positive for your school, you are helping other kids too.

What makes me happy...

Pass the Positivity Submission Form (Schools)

Please complete this form and include it with your Pass the Positivity entries when you send them to us.

Teacher First Name: _____

Teacher Last Name: _____

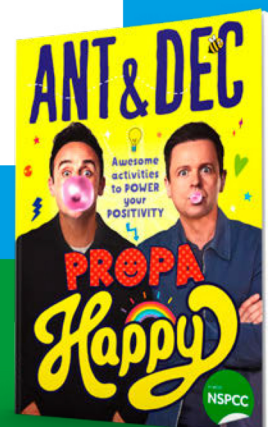

Teacher Email Address: _____

School: _____

School Address: _____

Number of Entries: _____

- I have read the Terms & Conditions for Entry as displayed on the propahappy.com website
- I have permission from all parents/guardians to submit entries on behalf of students
- I am happy to be contacted by Farshore about the Pass the Positivity campaign, including receiving updates about competitions and the Propa Happy Live Stream Event
- Sign-up to the Farshore teacher newsletter to hear about the latest children's books and reading for pleasure insights

Ant & Dec are donating all of their income from sales of this title to the

NSPCC